Alberta Labor Men Reject Proposal for Stronger Beer

Medicine Hat, Alta., Jan. 8.—The Alberta Federation of Labor has declared unequivocally against any modification of the prohibition legislation in this province. A resolution introduced by the Brewery Workers' Union of Calgary asking for endorsement of the resolution passed at the Quebec convention for 2 1/2 per cent beer was rejected by a vote of 45 to 37 at the Tuesday morning session.

The convention was more evenly divided on resolution introduced by A. Farnsworth of Calgary, reiterating the demand for a provincial department of labor administered by a member of the cabinet council holding the portfolio of minister of labor. This resolution was carried after a hot debate by a vote of 45 to 37.

The feature of the convention which is interesting to the delegates and the public is the demonstration between the two factions and the frequent flare-up of smouldering jealousy in the heated debate, which foreshadows a serious struggle for supremacy as the political policy of the convention develops. On the labor department resolution the reds, the miners and the Socialists, who have put up the red badge voted together with a few recruits from the moderates, and the discussion was entirely along the line of industrial unionism as advocated by the socialists versus legislative action along the lines of the past few years by the moderates.

When the temperance question came up, however, the entire convention was jolted by the spectacle of Jos. Knight, Mrs. Knight and J. T. McGuire, leading Socialists of Edmonton, throwing their whole weight, and that of a certain part of their following, against the proposal of the brewery workers. The brewery workers advocated 2 1/2 per cent beer for the avowed purpose of reducing the unemployment occasioned in their ranks by prohibition and to offset the use of hard liquors circulated by bootleggers.

The resolution was not concurred in by the resolution committee of which Jos. Knight is chairman, and in presenting this report, Mr. Knight drew attention to the fact that the minority which favored concurrence rejected the excuse of unemployment and took their stand on the ground of the rights of the individual. A. Farnsworth, of Edmonton, seconded the motion for rejection.

"This question should be settled finally before it becomes the hoodoo of every convention," said J. Knight, "I am opposed to it because unemployment of this kind is not the business of the working class. If we adopted this principle it would prevent all improvement of machinery and mechanical progress. I have not been a temperance man, but I will not be one to say a word which will bring back the bootleg traffic. We have prohibition, and I am opposed to all tinkering in this matter. Right now in Vladivostok and Umpke, the government of oppression is serving out vodka because drunkards are more easily subjugated than sober revolutionists. The demand for an increased percentage of alcohol comes entirely from those who profit by it."

Tom C. Vickers of Calgary, who had been in the brewery business for 22 years, heartily supported the majority of the committee, arguing that even after prohibition there was less unemployment in that trade than in others with similar capital investment.

E. E. Roper of Edmonton, ardently supported the committee. Intemperance had been a millstone about the necks of working people who had been the tools of those who gained by the traffic. The argument of unemployment was ridiculous, and if carried to its logical conclusion would mean a return to the hand system of production. To endorse such a resolution would be a reflection on the morals and intelligence of the working class. The British Columbia convention had turned down such a resolution last year, and Alberta should do so this year.

T. J. McGuire, of Edmonton, represented the attitude of the Brewery Workers as being narrow and local. They should centre their energies not on such local conditions of employment, but on attaining the ownership of machinery, if they sought a true solution. Aid. Broatch of Calgary did not think the convention would attempt to create employment for a few people to the detriment of the welfare of the whole population. Labor had found that it could not combat the liquor traffic in its own ranks and they should be unanimous to treat it as their common enemy.

Delegated Evans, of Medicine Hat, contended that more unemployment was caused by drunkenness than the number of workers thrown out of employment by prohibition. Against all this, delegate Smeed, of Lethbridge, Barr and Johnston, Calgary, Clowes of Cardiff, and Monahan, of Calgary, elaborated the arguments of the brewery workers which were that the beer advocated was a temperance drink, no infringement of prohibition.

F. Wheatley of district 18 gave new color to the argument by demanding the highest standard of food and drink for the workers.

Mrs. Knight challenged him eloquently, alcoholic drinks were the best tool that the master class had, she declared. And relaxation of prohibition would mean a sudden working class, unequal to the years which were before it. If there was not enough employment, shorter hours would be better remedy than beer. Although not a temperance worker, she wanted better bodies and minds for the working class.

Joe. Knight clinched the argument by referring to a recent visit of his to Brule Mines, where he had heard the vice-president of the company declare about the strike, that if it hadn't been for damned prohibition, everything would have been all right, the boys would have gone to town for a spree, had a good time and forgotten their grievances. Such people were planning to restore booze to chloroform the working class to acquiescence with their miserable conditions. He was opposed to it with all his heart and soul. The miners held out for the beer on the contention that their work and environment demanded it, but the committee report was sustained by a vote of 45 to 37. Some delegates did not vote.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

MEETS ON FEBRUARY 4th

The provincial legislature has been summoned to meet on Tuesday, Feb. 4, the second session of the fourth parliament of the province. The prospect now is that the session will be a very quiet one, with very little legislation, but no one can forecast the outcome of an Alberta session.

There will be some changes in the make up of the legislature. Messrs. Cross and Garfield have retired from the ministry and Messrs. McKay and Cote have come in. This will make no change in the personnel of the legislature as the retiring ministers retain their seats in the house. Only one change has been made in the house, J. J. Gaetz being elected to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Michener.

"It is more than likely, however, there will be a complete house. Last year four of the members of the opposition were absent because of their duties at the front. It is expected that they with all the other overseas members will be present to take part in the deliberations of the legislature. It is announced semi-officially that the government legislation will be light.

Hon. Mr. McKay, minister of health, has some legislation in the form of amendments to the health act. The health legislation is a survival from territorial days and the recent epidemic has shown how ineffective it really is. The amendments will be in the light of the tragic experience of the past few months. It is expected also that there will be some amendments in the hospital act, making it more complete. The Attorney General is expected to bring in some changes in the Factory Act. Labor legislation dealing with the Mechanic's Lien Act is expected to be a temporary appointment.

But all of this legislation is largely non-controversial and will not cause very much discussion. One of the most important moves to be made will be the appointment of opposition members of a leader. It will be remembered that last year Senator Michener resigned somewhat hurriedly and the opposition was taken by surprise, and Mr. Headley accepted the leadership as a temporary appointment. It was suggested—at the same time that a party caucus should be called to select a permanent chief, but none has been called. One of the reasons for a permanent selection last year was that a portion of the members were overseas and it might be unwise to make any permanent selection until they returned. There will be the same obstacle for a permanent appointment at this session. The prospects are that Mr. Headley will be appointed permanently, though Mr. Ewing of Edmonton, is mentioned. Some members of the party were inclined to criticize Mr. Headley because he offered no very vigorous opposition in the government. However, he was adhering to the traditions of the leaders of opposition in most of the British Dominions, and assisted rather than obstructed the government during the war.

Two matters of particular interest are likely to lead discussion in the legislature. One is the report of the government conference with the other provinces and the negotiations with the Dominion about the ownership of the natural resources. The longest provincial convention at Ottawa held during a recess in the session. In that discussion the most vigorous critic of the government was A. G. McKay, now a member of the government.

The other subject likely to be introduced in some form which will lead to much discussion is the school question. The province of Saskatchewan has amended the school act, prohibiting the teaching of any second language but French. It is expected that the province of Manitoba will adopt similar legislation and may make no exception at all. The Alberta legislation is similar to that which Saskatchewan amended. The present act provides that any second language that rate-payers may choose may be taught for one hour during the school day. Though rate-payers have not taken advantage of such privileges it has been largely because of discouragement on the part of the Alberta government. Whether or not the government will ask for any change has not been announced, but it is very probable that the question will be brought up in the house and if so, it will lead to a keen discussion.

Soldier legislation will likely be introduced and the question of readjustment and reconstruction will be under discussion for a portion of the session. Twelve members of the legislature have seen service overseas. They include one general, one colonel, one major one N.C.O., one nursing sister and lieutenants and captains.

The Crown Quince Writes To Pa Hohenzollern

The following letter from little Willie Hohenzollern was found at Spa, Belgium, after the latter had made his escape to Holland, and has been sent to the Western Globe.

On The Run
Somewhere in France

Dear Papa:—
I am writing on the run, as the brave and glorious soldiers under my command have not seen the Rhine for so long that they have started back that way, and of course, I am going mid them.

Oh, papa, there has been some odd things happened here in France. First I started in my big offensive which was to crush the fool Canadians, but they knew so little about military tactics that they did not crushed back like I want them. I sent my men in there like in big waves and when they got to the Canadians they all say "Boo" as loud as they could holler. Well, according to what you have always told me of the Canadians should have turned and run like blazes. But you think "Dem fool Canadians don't know anything about war, and instead of running der oder way, dey came right towards us. Some of dem was singing something about "You won't come back till it's over, over, der," or some other foolish song, and some of dem laughing like fools. Dey are so ignorant. But dey are off reckless mid dere guns and dey come towards us. I've den dat my men took a notion dey wanted to go back to dere der old Rhine. Ve don't like de little old dirty Marne river anyhow.

And oh papa, dem Canadians use such off language. Dey know nothing of culture and say such off things right before us. And dey talk blasphemous too. You tink they said right in front of me. One big husky from a place dey call Calabogie, he said, "I was such off ding—but I can't it help he said—"To hell mid der Kaiser." Did you offer hear anything so of it? I didn't tink anybody on earth would say such a fool thing. It made me off mad. I didn't stand any such a off thing so I turned and run mid dere oder boys. Yes I right.

And oh, papa, you know dem breast blazes vot you sent us you can send some to put on our backs? You know we are going der oder way now and breast are no good, for der cowardly Canadians are shooting us right in der back. Some of our boys took off dem breast plates and put dem on behind, but dem fool Canadians behind "Der Mable Leaf Forever," mid washing guns and der speech. Can't you help us? You remember in your speech you said nothing could stand before der brave German soldiers. Oh papa, I don't believe der ignorant Canadians ever read your speech. Dey run after us just like ve was a lot of rabbits. Vot you tink of dot? Can't you send dem some of your speeches right now? Dey don't know how terrible we are. Can't you move my army back to Belgium right away vere ve on all our glory? My men can wipe all de vimen and children vot dem Belgians can bring up. But dese Canadians are der greater der better. Ven we try to sing "Deutschland Ueber Alles" dey laugh like a lot of monkeys. But ve are getting der best of der Canadians. Ve can out run dem, Papa, if ve are not, der best fighters on earth, ve are sure der best runners. Nobody can't keep up mid us ven ve tink of der dear old Rhine and my army never mid tink so much of der dear old river. Let me know right away vot to do by return of postoffice.

Crown Prince Willie.

After the Flu: By Walt Mason

I had nine kinds of Spanish flu, with sundry German brands thrown in; all day I coughed and said "Ker-choo!" all night I coughed and sneezed like sin.

The doctor said, at at my side he mixed up pills to feed my fate. "The wonder is you have not died! I never saw so bad a case. I've seen a hundred taken down. I've seen them like the ripe grain fall; a thousand men are sick in town but you are sicker than them all. It is a feather in my cap that I have pulled you through the straits; that you still loiter on the map and breathe the well-known breath of life."

The nurse, a lady most refined, had kindred soothing things to say. "Jinks," she cried "It strikes me blind that you are still on earth today! When first I heard you sneeze and choke, and throw all kinds of fancy fits, I said, 'Oh chee, this run will croak ere I've a chance to earn two bits.'"

So in my convalescent days, when de announced that I was cured, I longed to go by my old-time ways, and brag of all I had endured. There is no sense in being ill unless it gives you an excuse to talk about the doctor's bill, and boast of pain to beat the deuce.

And when at last I toiled up town, all primed with tales of pain and pain, my old companions turned me down and said my sickness was a fake.

Old Calvin Johnston muttered "shoo!" You have your gall to talk of pain, a tin horn all right like the flu. Your talk is frivolous and vain. Just wait until you have the gout, your toe swelled bigger than a brick. Then you may pace around, old scout and claim you really have been sick."

Said Baldwin, "While you've been in bed, pretending that you had disease, I've been at least three-quarters dead, with rheumatism in both my knees! And when I've borne a hundred weight of poisons upon my frame it makes me tired to have a skate come up and boost his cheap flu game."

Alas, no matter what I do, my friends will never let me brag; in vain I hoped my siege of flu would give a chance to chew the rag.

LACOMBE HEADQUARTERS FOR A GANG OF WHISKY PEDDLERS AT PRESENT

The Attorney-General's Department promised the people of Alberta that if prohibition was the wish of the country, everything in the power of that department would be done to accomplish this end. The people voted overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition and prohibition became law. For a time the law was rigidly enforced, but soon the vigilance of the police relaxed, until today, prohibition is only a farce. Whiskey, brandy and all other spirituous liquors can be as easily obtained in Lacombe today as before prohibition came into effect, the only difference being the price you have to pay and the quality of the rot you get. The license system was a thousand times better for the people than the prohibition we are having, and one thing or the other should be done. The government should go back to license or enforce the prohibition. There must be complicity between the police and the bootleggers, else this state of affairs could not exist. Very few in Lacombe (with the exception of the policemen) do not know where they can go at any time and purchase liquor. Young boys who would not be allowed to get liquor under the license system, now get all they can pay for. It is going to result in many of our boys acquiring the liquor habit, and at the same time injuring their health by drinking the poisonous stuff being peddled. The writer has seen an individual from Edmonton come to town

Says No Human Being Could Eat Meat Allowed

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—At the opening of the afternoon session in the Northland case, Judge Hodgins said that the officers and crew of the vessel might be allowed to give their evidence if counsel desired. He did not wish to delay the sailing of the ship, and probably enough of the complaining now before the court for the ship's officers to see what line they would take. He warned counsel that he proposed to probe the matter to the bottom and every man with a complaint would be heard.

Mr. Holden replied that he would consult with the officers of the vessel in regard to the matter. He then read a statement from Chief Steward Reed of the Northland to the effect that he had no knowledge of any subscription list having been passed around on his behalf.

Private Joseph Laurent of Pembroke, who was wounded twice said he had occupied a berth on the Northland. He complained that the men had to eat in the same place where they slept and that the men were seasick during meals. For the first four or five days the men were kept off the promenade deck.

"I was on police duty," said the witness, "and one of our own officers told me to keep the men off the promenade deck. I told him that I could not do so and that they would have to get crew with arms to clear the men off. About twenty minutes later, however, orders came to allow the men on the promenade deck."

On being questioned, the witness said that the officer referred to was from Montreal Lieut. Vautelet. There was a scarcity of water on board, he stated, both for washing and drinking water was poor, it having a salty taste.

Sergt. Charles Smith said that when acting as orderly sergeant, he received complaints from the men that there was not enough food and that it was cold. In France, the witness said, a man was entitled to a pound of bread daily. He declared that on the day he acted as orderly sergeant the men did not get at all three meals more than half a pound of bread.

Sergeant Smith said that meat was left on the table by men, but "it was meat that no human being could eat." He spoke of one night when the men were served with bread, cheese, pickles and something which was served out for jam. The "jam" was brought from the galley in a dishpan—about six pounds for 140 men.

"Did you," Mr. Orde, government counsel asked of Sergt. Smith, "hear anything of bad eggs being served to the men?"

"Yes" was the reply, "one man had a chicken in his egg."

"Did you hear of that?" counsel asked in astonished tones.

"I saw it," Sergt. Smith quickly responded. "It was brought to the sergeants room for us to see."

But Sergt. Smith admitted later that to have an egg on a ship was "buying a pig in a poke."

He complained, too, that on one occasion two pints of water were put in the men's jam to make it go round. "Until it looked like this"—and here the sergeant tapped the water jug standing on the table before him. With regard to the quality of food, loaded down with bottled goods on several occasions, and has seen the good goods in circulation in town. The provincial police know this man and should know what he is doing. Lacombe has a night policeman only, who is not expected to do police work, but we venture to say that he is aware that those coming into town and possibly knows who is bringing it in. Lacombe is not to blame in this matter. The Attorney-General's department gave a promise that the law would be enforced by the officers of that department, and it is up to the department to act. The town of Lacombe does not administer the liquor act. The Western Globe has known of this state of affairs for nearly a year, and has refrained from giving it publicity in the hope that the authorities would straighten things out. Instead of getting better it has got steadily worse, and prohibition so far as Lacombe is concerned is only a farce. And it is a farce elsewhere. Liquor by the carload and trainload is being brought into the cities of Alberta, and the authorities must be aware that it is being brought in for the purpose of bootlegging.

Something must be done, and done at once to stop this growing evil. Either a license should be given reputable hotels to sell reputable liquor, or else make the police enforce the law of prohibition without fear or favor. There are more drunkards in the making in Alberta now than there was under the license system.

generally, however Sergt. Smith did not complain. His were complaints against the manner in which it was served.

"I never heard so much kicking in my life," was the statement of Sergt. Flood, who gave evidence.

Capt. Elliot tested the men's food the day he acted as orderly officer. He found the quality good. This was the first day out.

Germany has Food Enough Says Hoover

Paris, Jan. 3.—Herbert C. Hoover, United States food administrator, today gave out the following statement on the food situation in Europe: "Since my arrival in Europe I have been co-operating with the officers of the Allied governments in an investigation of the food situation, more particularly in the liberated areas. We have made some investigation of condition in Germany, but are not yet prepared to come to any definite conclusion."

"The population of Germany certainly has enough stocks of food to carry on for a while, with the exception of fat supplies, which are developing some condition of disease and a great deal of discontent."

"It is also of the greatest possible political importance, for if we are to prevent anarchy and if we are to hope that the world will return to some form of orderly government, if we are to see the establishments of governments with whom we can make peace, we must somehow provide a food supply. Therefore our financial problem in handling relief may be resolved into three categories."

"First, we can, no doubt, sell to Germany and to some of the Allies and neutrals, who are able to and must pay in equitable and receivable securities in some form for the food that they require as commercial transaction."

"Second the liberated areas and some of the Allied countries to which the United States can temporarily extend loans under its present legislation."

"Third, peoples who must have assistance in a large way from the American people in a manner which cannot be provided for under any of the present available funds."

"The allied governments have expressed willingness to join in the provision of food stuffs and final help for these areas, but their situation today as every day depends to a large degree upon the finance and supplies from the United States. We anticipate fewer difficulties with overseas transportation than with other items."

"It appears to the Allies and ourselves only just that inasmuch as a large part of the difficulties of the liberated territories are due to the ruthless action of German arms the Americans should be called upon to provide ships to transport food supplies to these areas, and it will certainly be made a condition of the allowance of any food supplies to Germany that her ships shall ultimately be turned over to carry food for all the liberated nations."

The annual meeting of the Oxford (Bentley) S.D. was held in the school-house on Saturday Jan. 4th at 2 p.m. There were ten ratapayers present. Mr. C. F. Damron occupied the chair. The various reports were read and adopted. Owing to the epidemic these reports were very incomplete, the school only being open 23 days during the term. The treasurers' statement was as follows:

Balance assets over liabilities	$3121.54

The rate of assessment was 7 mills there are 27 ratapayers in arrears. The exact cost of operation for the year was $1821.02.

Mr. W. B. Crawford was elected trustee for the three year term. The board now stands, Mr. C. F. Damron, 1 year, Mr. S. Wyatt, 2 years and Mr. Crawford.

A few remarks upon the above meeting may not be out of place. There were 10 ratapayers present. The secretary informs us that there are 64 resident ratapayers in the district. These are evenly divided between the country and the village. That is to say, out of 64 men in this district there are ten men who think enough of the foundation of civilization in our midst to spend two hours once a year to discuss these matters and support the trustees. Three men of the 64 are elected as their representatives, without salary, to spend many hours during the year looking after the educational plant of our district. It is not even common courtesy to these men to stay away from the meeting at which they give their report of work and should receive some idea of the wishes of the electorate for another year. The secretary sent a postal card to all the rural ratapayers, notifying them of the meeting, and a notice was in the Post office to remind the local or village ratapayers of the meeting. Once again we say, as we said in relation to the municipal affairs a few weeks ago, only those men who attended the meeting have any right to criticize the activities of the school Board during the coming year.

Another thing that is noticeable is that the S.D. is not paying its way. That is unfortunate and unnecessary. $33.00 in the Bank and $350.00 borrowed money as a liability, of course there are $277.00 taxes not collected. But there will always be some arrears of taxes, and district is to be congratulated that arrears are so small. The only way to get a real business basis is to raise the taxes. Then there will be a howl (we hope not). Everyone will be ready then to turn out to a meeting and denounce the trustees. The time to discuss these matters is not at a special meeting, but at the regular annual meeting. It was not done so we hope that the trustees will be able to work out a scheme, fair to all, by which at the end of the year, instead of wasting money paying interest, they will have a snug bank balance to begin the new year.

Mr. Percy Thorp has admitted his brother Frank late of Paduan and Thorp, Bentley, as a partner into his business, operating under the name of the Bentley Garage. They will carry a full line of Auto Accessories, Tires and repairs and also, it is expected, John Deere, Implements. It is their intention to build a new and well equipped work shop with added storage facilities before spring. Their corner of the village will, we predict, be a very busy one during the coming season.

A grand carnival will be held on the Bentley rink on Saturday night Jan.

13th. This will be a chance for all the skating enthusiasts to dress up in their "fanciest" costumes. Everyone is asked to wear masks, skating will commence at 7:30 and continue until nine, when the judging of the costumes will begin. There will be beautiful prizes for the following: best lady in fancy dress, best lady in comic dress, best gentleman in fancy dress, best gentleman in comic costume, best girl in costume, best couple on the ice. There will also be prizes for a ladies race, a man's race, a girls race, and a boy's race. All are asked to be sports and help make the races interesting and the carnival a success, a silver collection will be taken on to pay for the prizes. Do not forget the date.

Mrs. J. F. Miller went to Calgary on Monday for a short visit with friends.

Chapman. At the meeting next Sunday evening the subject of discussion will be the Religious Signs of the Times. It is hoped there will be a large turn out of the men of the community and an interesting discussion should take place. The report of the officers of the past year will be given also.

Miss Nita Nicholson has taken up her duties at the Spruceville school.

Miss Mamie Nelson has returned to Mt. Royal College, Calgary, after spending the holiday at her home.

Two of our young men have secured positions in the village during the past week. Mr. Detloff Weise is Junior in the Union Bank and Mr. Campbell Miller has joined the staff of the Co-operative store.

The annual meeting of the Sunset Hill S. D. No. 2908 will be held in the school house on January 11th at 2 p.m. all the ratapayers are urged to attend. Two trustees are to be elected one for three years and one for one year.

Now that the epidemic is over and the holiday season past it would be well if the ladies could start in to make up for lost time. We will be sending for a new supply of goods in the near future.

Mrs. Mary Uhl of Rimbye is spending a few days with her daughter Mrs. B. Williams.

Miss C. Noiles returned on Saturday and school opened on Monday with a full attendance in both rooms. Only five pupils were absent and they were absent because of illness. This is a good start for the new term.

Mr. Victor McPherson of Calgary is visiting with relatives here.

At a meeting of young people in the church on Monday evening it was agreed that there ought to be an organization of the young people of Bentley for mutual improvement and community betterment. It was decided to call a meeting for Tuesday Jan. 14th at 8 o'clock to elect officers and appoint committees. The organization will likely arrange some interesting debates some lectures and socials, and perhaps a mock Parliament. It is hoped that every young man and young woman will be present on Tuesday evening to help along the work.

One of the best evidences that Bentley is alive is that we have a thriving curling club. About 2 weeks ago a group of men met in a store and agreed to organize a Curling Club and proceeded to elect the officers. On Saturday Night last the first game was played on their own rink. This building is a credit to the village. It is 164 feet long by 18 feet wide with a sheet of ice 15 by 154 feet.

A splendid gas lighting system has been installed which turns night into day almost, inside the building. The water is supplied by the crematory through the kind nose of Mr. H. Kerr. Already a number of rinks have been formed and there promises to be some interesting times during the season. There is no more clean, healthful or exhilarating winter sport and whoever started the ball rolling is commended.

We are in receipt of a letter from the supt. of supplies of the Provincial branch of the Red Cross in regard to the shipment of supplies to the Red Cross Hospital at Ogden from the Bentley District Branch. COMMUNICATION

Editor Globe.

Dear Sir:—In your issue of the 1st inst. I noticed a lengthy report of the M.D. Crown No. 399. In reading over the various items I noticed two in particular I think requiring explanation. I refer to the two items in the councillor's expense accounts charged by R.M. Gibson and P. H. McLennan. In looking up the Ordinance I find that the limit chargeable by a councillor for attending a meeting is $30.00; they are also allowed a limit of $30.00 more for laying out and inspecting work, a total of $60.00. R. M. Gibson's expense account according to the report is $128.00, and P. H. McLennan's account is $126.00, which would leave a balance chargeable to mileage of sixty dollars and sixty eight respectively, which at ten cents a mile works out at 680 and 660 miles, which they claim to have travelled attending to the business of the district. Of course, I understand McLennan bought a new car last summer and possibly the speedometer may not be registering just right, but how R. M. Gibson managed to cover such a distance without a car is beyond the comprehension of yours truly.

The Veteran Theatre.

During the late epidemic, the Veteran theatre has been thoroughly overhauled, the ventilation system has been inspected by government inspectors, and repaired according to government rules. Two or three new stoves have been installed, and the patrons can spend a comfortable and enjoyable evening at the Veteran. The theatre has been disinfected throughout, and there will be no danger of contracting influenza there. This theatre has been noted for being a very cold place during the winter nights, but this winter will be an exception and the place will be kept at an even and comfortable temperature. The management has booked some very good pictures for the reopening, and will be pleased to welcome you back after the long quarantine.

At Edmonton, on Monday, H. Welton and R. Richardson of Lacombe, were sent up for trial on the charge of horse stealing. C. C. Curtis, who was also arrested on the same charge was remanded. The magistrate in holding over the Curtis case said that he was practically certain that Curtis had shipped the stolen horses unknowingly, but there were some matters connected with the signing of the shipping bills that had to be cleared up.
